Easton Detective Division Solves Multiple Breaking & Entering Cases

Easton Police Detectives, working in collaboration with multiple law enforcement agencies, have identified and charged Shawn Broxton age 47 of Boston, MA with breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny from a building. The crime occurred in September 2025 when Hayashi Japanese Restaurant, located on Turnpike Street, was burglarized during the overnight hours resulting in the theft of cash and other items. Broxton has an extensive history of commercial burglaries and is now facing charges in multiple communities.

During the same month, Detectives began investigating a series of widespread vehicle break-ins that occurred across the community. Through detailed investigative work, Detectives identified two suspects, Jayden Barrant age 24 and Tavon Jackson age 25, both of Stoughton, MA. Each have been charged with multiple counts of breaking and entering a vehicle in the nighttime and larceny.

These investigations highlight the persistence, commitment, and complexity involved in identifying suspects and pursuing charges, made possible through the continued support, cooperation, and vigilance of our community.
